Bill: Thanks loads for the email. I printed out one page but the 8 point print was illegible. I am amazed you found these...it never occurred to me to look in eBay. I suppose you did a search for Hambujer in the eBay search field. These are more expensive than I care to spend, but the fact of Ephraim's presence in Chicago on the date of the newspaper becomes verifiable history by this image. The civil war stories make good reading also and make the war sound as hopeless as current wars. I wonder if we could find more evidence of his whereabouts during those early years. I have traced him from England to New York City, to Chicago, to Detroit. Reminds me, we have no knowledge of his years in Prussia or the Prussian army. Somewhere there are newspapers and records just waiting to be found. This availability of old newspapers would seem a rich lode for historical research.....Richard

Doctor,

I don't know if you buy on ebay at all, but there are three chicago newspapers for sale from 1862.

Each one has an article or ad for Hambujer's appearance here.

You can search for them with these numbers:

Item number: 150206124879

Item number: 150206127941

Item number: 150206138739

Best wishes,

Bill
