

A NEW CAFE AND RESTAURANT.—By reference to our advertising columns, this morning, it will be seen that the Wizard, Hambujer, has retired from public life, and proposes to cater to the physical wants of the people. On Thursday next he will open a Cafe and Saloon at 298 Main street, in the American Block. The place has been handsomely fitted up, and we are assured every attention will be paid to the patrons of the establishment. The Professor has travelled extensively, been much in public life, and it may be presumed that he is capable of contributing successfully to the comfort of his customers.
